WASHINGTON, June 21.—What is now going on about the democratic presidential nomination consists of efforts by Roosevelt on one side and Smith on the other to get the allegiance of, roughly, 200 delegates who have the balance of power as between Roosevelt and Roosevelt's opponents. They are mainly delegates whose nominal allegiance is to hopeless favorite sons.

It is possible the allegiance of these balance-of-power delegates may become known in advance of the balloting. If so, and if enough of them are known to favor Roosevelt, the result might be an early dash to the band-wagon which would nominate Roosevelt on the first ballot.

Speaking broadly, it looks as if Roosevelt on the first ballot.

Speaking broadly, it looks as if Roosevelt will win. Roosevelt is soff ar in the lead that denying him the nomination would be extraordinary and unprecedented. It may, however, happen.

The role of the "favorite son" delegates, and the situation as a whole, can be illustrated by Missouri. Missouri is merely a typical case for Roosevelt, and Roosevelt will win. Souri has 36 delegates. They are

These two states are for Garner. Garner has no real chance, but he has just enough color of chance to justify these delegations in staying with him for a few ballots. To state the situation another way, there are in all 1,154 delegates. Roosevelt to win must have two-thirds, or 770. Smith in order to stop Roosevelt must have just over one-third, or 385. If and when Smith holds Roosevelt for half a dozen ballots, it will be known that Roosevelt cannot win. At that point the convention will nominate some one else. The "some one else" will not be Smith. It may be Newton D. Baker. It may be Newton D. Baker What is going on this week is efforts by Roosevelt to get the favorite son delegates to promise to come to him on the second ballot, and efforts by Smith and others to get them to promise to remain away from Roosevelt. What a given group of delegates, such as Missouri's, will do depends upon many factors. One state leader may be an old associate of Smith in past convention battles in 1928 and 1924. Another may feel that his community at home wasts. 1928 and 1924. Another may feel that his community at home wants Roosevelt. Some delegates may be moved one way or the other by passion arising in the preliminary stage of the convention. The varying influences moving different delegates are such that it is impossible to estimate the net resultant of them. At this writing, it looks as if Roosevelt will win.

Even in Baltimore, where men boast of the "free state" and claim superior regard for the Bill of Rights, 1,550 men were arrested without cause in one year's time, held in secret as kidnaped people are, and eventually released—the last one of them—without charge.

It happens in every city, every day, and nobody is safe but the rich man and the politician-and perhaps the gangster. Do you wonder that ordinary poor men often side with criminals? Criminals don't kidnap thousands of decent citizens, nor beat them up

HERE'S PROCEDURE

FOR RULE CHANGING
CHICAGO, June 21.—(P)—The procedure by which the democrats could abolish the two-thirds rule has been explained as follows:
The rules committee, made up of one member from each state delegation, might propose in its report to the convention that instead of adopting the rules of the last convention this one be governed by rules under which the presidential candidate receiving a majority, or even a plurality, of the votes of the delegates would be the choice of the party for its standard bearer.
Such a proposal, coming to the convention at its opening before any rule of procedure had been

This fact is illustrated nowhere better than in the new emphasis which is being placed on child care and training and family relations in the stronger schools of home economics."

He asserted that home economics courses do not now merely teach sewing and cooking, but that it teaches all angles of home life. "It is the feeder and clother of men and omen; it is that department that teaches us what we are to do with the gifts of God through nature," Mr. Sutton said. The all-important question of home conomics should not be considered as an adjunct or as an annex to a course of study, but as the basic course which our younger women should thoroughly understand in order that we may live the lives God intended and may live the lives God intended and make our contribution to civilization."

"I'll go up with you," said Claire,
"to show you the way. It's really such a ridiculous house, full of steps and blind alleys."

"If she says anything," thought Esmee, "I can't bear it. Not now."

They mounted the stairs together, and every moment Esmee was in dread that Claire would begin, would say something more about her giving up Michael.

Claire opened the door, the bedside lamp was lit, the bed turned down, a pink crepe de chine nightdress folded on the foot.

"Have you everything you want. Esmee?" asked Claire, and it seemed to Esmee that there was something grave, almost austere, in her voice.

"Yes, thank you!" she answered.
Still Claire lingered in the doorway. She was outside the circle of light from the shaded lamp, but the soft light in the hall touched her fair hair, made it bright, like a halo.

"Esmee," she said, "I hope you'll be very happy with Michael. Goodnight."

Her attitude was not to be mistaken. She had recognized Michael's decision. If he would have this girl decision. If he would have this girl decision. If he would have this girl and there were sounds from below of the front door being unlocked, windows opened; the day was beginning. Claire's day, orderly, correct, and comfortable.

Mrs, Sully and Cynthia would be sleeping late that morning, with no early breakfast to be got for Esmee or Lew. In due time Mrs. Sully would rise, in her unseemly wrapper, would go into that dreadful little kitchen, and step the coffee pot on the stove. Dummy was then re-entered by leading a diamond, and a spade returned, North now covering with the Ace. His play, however, made no difference. Another diamond placed the Dummy in to run the established spades, upon which East discarded his losing hearts. The heart in Dummy was trumped in the closed hand, and East thus had the unusual distinction of making a Grand Slam, bid defensively against tremendous honor strength held by his opponents, which was, however, made valueless because of the freakish distribution of the cards.

TODAY'S POINTER.
On ordinary hands the honor-tricks furnish an accurate measuring stick to judge the defensive power of holdings, but when the bidding reveals freak distributions, players must re-member that even Aces cannot pass the barrier of opponents' trumps.

Davila Junta Promises To Honor Request Made by U. S. Ambassador.

SANTIAGO, Chilc, June 21 .- (AP) Carlos G. Davila, president of the ruling junta, was taken ill tonight when a severe attack of grippe in the midst of a critical political situation involving the safety of American lives and property.

Carlos Davila's socialist junta today responded to a request from William S. Culbertson, the American ambassa-dor, for protection of American lives and property with a promise of immeand property with a promise of immediate protective measures.

The ambassador had advised the junta that American lives might be endangered by anti-foreign reaction, especially in the Rancagua copper area, 50 miles from the capital. There are located the $100,000,000 Braden mines, subsidiaries of the Guggenheim interests.

interests.
Coupled with the promise of protection was a request from the junta that the mining interests help stamp out radicals. Officials of the Braden Company at Teniente, where street fighting has occurred, expressed satisfaction with the government's attitude.

Although disorders in which five persons were reported slain and many injured apparently had subsided, the socialist junta outlawed communistic agitation by decree, with exile, imprisonment or fines as the punishment for attempts to foment trouble.

The commander of the military garrison ordered troops to fire immediately on any groups of malcontents assembling in the streets. The nation already was under martial law.

The illness of Senor Davila, former ambassador to Washington, was complicated by overwork, but although he was obliged to go to bed he attempted to sign essential papers and handle other government business.

The anti-communist decree declares all who make trouble for the government to be enemies of the republic. Under the decree the government expected to prosecute communism more vigorously. interests.

SHARKEY DETHRONES SCHMELING AS CHAMPION

Max Astonished By Fight Verdict, Believes He Won

Schmeling Sure He Is Still Champion in Eyes of Those Who Witnessed Battle.

By Max Schmeling,

Former Heavyweight Champion of the World. (Copyright, 1982, by N. A. N. A., Inc.)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN BOWL, LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., June 21.—I believe I won tonight. I never was so surprised in all my life as I was when Joe Humphries announced: "Winner and new champion, Jack Sharkey."

I think there was only one person more amazed than I and that person was Sharkey.

Of course, I would like to fight Sharkey again. I will meet him in September if Joe Jacobs can drag him into another

It will make no difference what I say now. Nearly 80,000 persons saw the fight and I believe that in their real, true opinion, I still am the heavyweight champion of the world. One glance at the pair of us at the finish showed plainly who was the winner. There was not a mark on me. I was fresh enough to go 15 rounds more. But Sharkey was dog tired; his face was puffed and his left side was swollen and bruised. His left eye bulged and closed from the righthanders that belted against it.

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 21 .-- (AP)-

Twice I staggered Sharkey, each time with a left hook, and the second time, in the thirteenth round, he would have dropped if he hadn't elimbed.

It was a fairly clean fight. Sharkey threw some low punches, especially in the fourth round, when I cautioned him. Gunboat Smith paid no atten-tion to the low blows.

This is not the squawk of a loser, for I do not consider that I was the loser. I am satisfied with the fight I waged and I also am satisfied that Sharkey in his own heart knows now. Eight seeded players were the only survivors in the men's singles of the more than ever, that I am his master. NEVER IN DANGER. In the dressing room Joe Jacobs was emphatic in declaring I was robbed of the decision. One of the judges voted in my favor. Jacobs did not want Gunbeat Smith to referee

Sharkey looked his defeat as he stood quavering in his corner while waiting for the announcement of the verdict. I hope we can get a return match with Sharkey. I think the American fight fans, fair-minded as they are, will demand it. Let us see if Sharkey will grant me it. That's one way he can prove to the public that he thinks he was enttiled to the decision.

SORIANA FIGHTS FOR J. THOMAS

Cuba's lone entry for the Olympics from this section is all set to go but hasn't any way to get there. Courado Rodriguez Valdes (his full name) is recognized in Cuba as that country's crack 100 meters runner. He is a sort of Percy Williams or Frank Wykoff over there. For several weeks, Courado has been working out daily on the Georgia Tech track and is bronzed and hardened from the outdoors. He says he is in great shape and is confident he can make a good showing in the Olympic trials.

Yesterday Courado received a letter from some of his countrymen in Havana, urging him to represent his country at Los Angeles and guaranteeing to pay his expenses while there. They asked him to forward a picture to the Cuban consul so that he could take out proper credentials.

Courado's main problem, however, now lies in getting to the coast set. Rafael Soriana, Porto Rican, and Chief Redfern, Indian, both light-weights, are the newcomers, while Joe Mendoza, Spaniard, already has appeared. Thomas announced that he had matched Baby Johnston against Jummy Key for one of the bouts and is rapidly lining up the others, which will include Cliff Henson, 138; Jesse Herrington, 130; Arthur Hughes, 165; Bo Finn, 130; Red Barrett, 135; Jim Wooten, 150; Glenn Lawson, 145; Hugh Youngblood, 145; Buddy Cole, 126.

Others wishing to enter may get in touch with Thomas at the Atlan-tan hotel or Oscar Buice at 777 Ma-# to the Cuban consul so that he could take out proper credentials. Courado's main problem, however, now lies in getting to the coast as he must pay his own traveling expenses. Anyone desirous of giving a patriotic young athlete a lift that way, may let it be known. Courado says he is willing to fix punctures, lend a hand with the driving and even change the oil in the auto just so he gets there. NO PRELIMINARIES. Reddick Champion NO PRELIMINARIES. RINGSIDE, MADISON, SOUARE GARDEN BOWL, NEW YORK, N. Y. June 21 .- At a quarter of eight eastern daylight time, the crowd was swarming into what the boys have laughingly called the Garden's new depression, a shallow hole dug in the ground at Flushing, N. Y., and lined with wooden benches and chairs for the attempt of Jack Sharkey to wrest the world's heavyweight crown from Max Schmeling, of Germany.

It was still daylight as I suppose it should be on daylight time. One of the curious things about this fight is that it required so long to catch the public fancy. And still more curious was the fact that the high-priced seats, topped at $23 and scaled down to $15, were the first to go. And at 8 o'clock, 6 in Atlanta, the cheap unreserved seats were filling rapidly. The Garden's new depression was dug out on a barren stretch land on Long Island. Around the rim is a row of light poles similar to those at the baseball park. On each glows a couple of big incandescents. The seats slope down to the ring. Above the top of the ring hang dozens of reflectors. At each corner are loudspeakers.

High above a plane, looking black against the cloudy, threaten sky, circles and circles, its motor humming throatily. A Goodyear blimp makes a slow circle, wobbling along like some distended fish. There are six rows of press seats. From where I write in the fourth row may be seen Charles Francis Coe, writer of gangster stories and announcer for the national hook-up tonight; Grantland Rice and Walter Trumbull, of the North American Newspaper Alliance; Paul Gallico, of the Evening News; Ed Wray, of St. Louis; Westbrook Pegler and Jack Kofoed, of the New York Evening Post, and others well known to Atlantans. HUMPHRIES CLIMBS IN.

At 8:20 it was still light, but the sun was gone. Gunboat Smith, who refered the Shikat-Lewis wrestling match and the Sharkey-Carnera fight last fall, entered the ring for the first preliminaries. It was a good-natured crowd. There is no spectacle like a heavyweight fight crowd. This one was in a good humor because things were going good. The weather was cool.

Garden officials were excited. Indications were that more than 71,000 people, the capacity of the new depression which may bring the Garden out of the uptown depression, were on hand.

Dr. William H. Walker is sitting just in front of me. Mickey Walker, the toy buildog who held Jack Sharkey to a draw not so long ago, entered the ringside seats and walked about. His new wife was with him. Bernar McFadden, who started the health business, also entered and took a seat.

Expert's Tabulation Gives German Eight Rounds, Sailor Four and Three Even.

By Grantland Rice.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN BOWL, LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., June 21.—Jack Sharkey can no longer complain bout his luck.

Outfought and outboxed over two-thirds of the route by Max Schmeling, he is the new heavyweight champion of the world. The Boston gob was given the decision in a fight where he was trying desperately to keep his balance at the finish with Schmeling tearing in, rushing the sailor all over the ring.

There was no question as to who had won the fight unti the startling and amazing decision was rendered. And it must be recorded here that it was one of the worst decisions in the history of the heavyweight game.

Charley Mathison, one of the judges, voted for Schmeling. Referee "Gunboat" Smith and George Kelley, the other judge, voted for Sharkey. Figuring every punch carefully, I gave Schmeling eight rounds, Sharkey four and the other three even. And this count was below the Neither fighter ever took any sor of a chance. The battle consiste largely in a series of timid left jabs followed now and then at sparsel separated intervals by whistling right that missed the target by two or threfeet.

The setting was perfect for a grea heavyweight clash. Fully 70,00 spectators poured into the new Gar den Stadium on a warm and steam

As the first, second, third an fourth rounds passed by without an action, the big crowd still waited fo the heavy artillery, for the first ou break, for the first sign of real hottility. But even as the seventh roun came on the show was a perfect photograph of a Sunday school picnic.

Who said fighting is brutal? Th fight was almost as brutal as a pin pong contest. Nothing happened an nothing continued to happen as the battle moved along. It reached the point where only a mathematicia with perfect instruments could te who was ahead.

ROME, Ga., June 21.—Numerous records are expected to be smashed here on July 4 and 5, when the annual swimming meet of the southeastern division of the amateur athletic union will be staged in the two-acre lake on the campus of the Darlington school. During the past few days the local committee, which is composed of W. H. Foster, secretary of the Rome Chamber of Commerce, as chalfman; Charles Brewster and Ish Williams, holder of two of the southeastern records, have received numerous inquiries from clubs and unattached swimmers, and they believe that an attendance record will be set, both in participants and spectators. Being a holiday period, hundreds will drive to Rome on the Fourth of July to watch the participants from six southern states—North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, and Florida perform.

Foster is sending out application blanks as a result of these requests and inquiries, and it was stated here that these could be obtained from George Griffin, Georgia Tech, Atlanta. The records which the contestants will endeavor to break are as follows:

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Thwarted in their intentions of playing a ball game, the Atlanta Crackers and Memphis Chicks spent the allegedly longest day in the year twiddling their thumbs yesterday when the weatherman's long predicted showers soused the playing field.

Today there will be a double-header to make up the day off, the first game starting at 1:30 p. m. Incidentally, it is the Chicks' last appearance on the present home stand as they move on tonight.

Red Barron, who was still somewhat nettled yesterday over the attending circumstances of Monday's game, which he protested to no avail, announced he would pitch Bunny Hearn, tiny left-hander, and rangy Andy Messenger, who seems to have reached top form.

Doe Prothro, the glib medico, will send Tom Davis and Walter Beck, two of his niftiest performers, to the mound.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN BOWL, NEW YORK, June 21 .-(AP)—Although finishing in retreat, with one eye closed under a barrage of punishing blows, Jack Sharkey, the Boston sailor, was awarded the heavyweight championship of the world tonight, on points, after a colorless 15-round battle with the defending title-holder, Max Schmeling, of Germany.

On the Associated Press score sheets Schmeling was credited with a margin in seven rounds, with six going to Sharkey and two registered as even.

The decision represented a comeback for Sharkey, who has been battering in vain toward the top for the better part of six years, but the most impressive comeback of the night was made by the battered old fight game iself.

The Garden's big new bowl in Long Island City was apparently packed to its capacity of 72,000, with an overflow in the aisles and along the outer rim. The size of the crowd far exceeded expectations. Although promoters made no announcement of the figures, the estimates were that the "gate" came close to $500,000, thereby assuring all interests, including Mrs. W. R. Hearst's Free Milk Fund for Babies, Inc., a substantial profit.

The crowd took the decision much more calmly than the ring-side critics, who credited Schmeling with winning anywhere from

The reason is obvious. He is the only man in the field who has ever broken par 70 for the 6.815-yard trap-infested course over which the championship will be played. And he has done it not once, but five times, including twice within the past week. He is the only golfer who has mastered the layout.

A roar started from the rim and rolled down to the ring as Max Schmeling came in. It was a bit unusual for the champ to enter first. He got a comparatively small hand as he took his bow. He was laughing as if someone had told him a funny story. It was probably the size of the house that delighted him. He wore a gray bathrobe. A towel was wrapped about his neck. The gloves were already on.

The odds were shouted as 11 to 10 on Schmeling. Another roar, Sharkey was coming down the aisle. He got the greatest cheer. He wore a light purple robe with United States navy on the back of it. He spat into the resin at his feet. His face was set. He appeared surly and nervous. Schmeling was quiet and calm.

There will be a strong fleet assembled for the Olympic tests, including at least two of the losing boatloads yesterday, Washington and Syracuse, as well as Wisconsin, Columbia's graduate eight and the Penn A. Over the Olympic distance of 2,000 meters (approximately one mile and a quarter) California barely turned back the Elis four years ago. Yale was the Olympic victor in 1924, so that each has the incentive to swing back on the international seas. Meanwhile on the ancient Thames at New London, Yale must beat Harvard before raising Eli hopes for the Olympics too high.

The nearest thing to a thrill in the entire four miles came when Cornell's crew made a gallant bid to come from behind and overhaul the Bears within the last mile and a half. The Ithacans were nearly five lengths behind the pace setters when they finally got going. But it was too late, even though they succeeded in cutting this margin in half, meanwhile overhauling Navy, Syracuse and Washington.

YOU'RE RIGHT... there's one thing that stands out about Chesterfield. That is . . . they're Milder.

This means Chesterfields aren't harsh. It means they're not strong or heavy.

Early in the day or late at night you'll find that Chesterfields are always pleasing. They are mild and yet they satisfy.

What's more they taste better, too. That's it ... milder and better taste. These are the two outstanding merits of Chesterfield.

Plus...a third important advantage. Chesterfields are as pure as the water you drink . . . as pure as science can make them.

The court was reluctant to grant the request, although Clarke raised no objection. The court told Grossman to bring in a statement from a psychiatrist and he returned later in the day with one signed by Dr. H. S. Hulbert which said Clarke was suffering from paranoid dementia.

Bob Sherwood and His Anniversary

ROBERT E. SHERWOOD, the author of several plays, including such hits as "The Road to Rome." "The Queen's Husband" and "Reunion in Vienna." first met his wife, the attractive Mary Brandon, at The Algonquin. Not so terribly long after that first meeting they found themselves (not by chance this time) at supper at The Algonquin. The conversation on this occasion was extremely private for when they arose from supper Mary Brandon had promised to become Mrs. Robert E. Sherwood, which she subsequently did. One year later the Sherwoods paid a romantic supper pilgrimage to that very table. As they sat there chatting reminiscently, Rex Beach happened in and came over to say Hello. Somehow or other the Sherwoods confided in Rex Beach just why they were sitting at that table on that date at that hour. To their surprise, Rex was keenly amused at the news. Before the Sherwoods had time to ask Rex what made that so darned funny, he explained that it was at the self-same table that he and Mrs. Beach had signed up for the duration a dozen years earlier.

The market was dull. Buying incentive was obviously absent. Professionals seemed to be unenthusiastic about the new stock transfer taxes. Rails again tried to lead the list higher. Their improvement lacked conviction and omission of American Smelting's preferred dividends found all groups ready for a letdown. Prevailing dullness made brokers rather gloomy, although it was pointed out that this would prove a blessing in disguise if it signaled final cessation of important liquidation.

NEW YORK, June 21.—(P)—The curb market continued to drift irresolutely today.

A little selling appeared in some of the more popular issues in the last hour, in sympathy with the sag on the big board, but a large portion of the list remained virtually motionless. The turn-over approximated 80,000 shares, slightly larger than yesterday's. shares, slightly larger than yesterday's.

Oils generally were quiet and fairly steady. Standard of Indiana closed unchanged at 18. Union Oil Associates sagged a fraction.

Utilities were raixed. Electric Bond and Share closed a shade lower, and the preferred issues sagged in a thin market. American Super-Power first preferred recovered a point in a fair turnover. preferred recovered turnover, turnover, Industrials were all but neglected. American Beverage traded at 45-8, up 1-4 and the best of the year. UPTURN IN BUSINESS

NEW YORK. June 21.—(49)—M. H. Cahill, president of the Missouri-Kan sas-Texas railroad, said todsy-that if business runs true to form with other presidential years, there should soon be an upturn for the better. "Our figures show that with one exception freight earnings for the last six months of a general election year have been greater than those for the same period of the preceding year," he pointed out. the preceding year, "Apparently the improvement is already under way, for since early in June loadings over the M.-K.-T. have been showing an encouraging gam over previous months. While the average increase since June 6 has been only about 200 cars a day, it is significant because at this time last year the trend was downward."

Gross revenues of the M.-K.-T., Mr. Cahill stated, for the first five months of this year showed a decrease of something less than $3,000,000 from the first five months of last year. He reiterated that the road would earn its fixed charges this year.

Sales (In $1,000).

High Low Close $2,000,000 from the first five months of last year.

"Week-End Marriage" At Keith's Georgia

Whether or not one agrees with the intimated settlement of the problem of marriage versus career, as presented in "Week-End Marriage," which opens in "Week-End Marriage," which opens a three-day engagement at the Keith's Georgia today, this picture offers a lot in novelty and entertainment, plus the return of screenland's newest team, Loretta Young and Norman Foster. It was in "Play Girl" that this pair showed their combined flair for comedy and drama and now First National has wisely placed them together again as the husband and wife of "Week-End Marriage."

The Real Estate Situation As Discussed by Those Who Know It

from A to

City.

Dear Sirs:

RANKIN-WHITTEN REALTY COMPANY REALTORS

GROUND PLOOR

ATLANTA. GA. June 20th 1932.

The Atlanta Constitution,

There are two statements of fact, to which we would call attention; namely, "The law of supply and demand exeating the price and "History repeating itself". Regarding the first fact, we are confident that Mature will add no more land; whereas, at the present ratio of increasing population, our United States will add 25,000,000, people within the next 18 years. If our section secures its quote, it will require every desirable lot, house, apartment, store and farm that is er can be made available, and all industries will necessarily be expanded.

In cycles of 7 to 10 years, the pendulum swings from low to high tide in business endeavor --- from depression to presperity. Each depression has produced its calamity howlers, who in turn have mesmerized the masses into a state of fear and lost confidence. But in prosperity this quickly changes to beautiful thoughts of silver linings in the heavens. It is more a state of mind than actuality that we have depressions; and right thinking and gratitude properly exprest thru genuine leadership, will lift us out of the present sit-

As history repeats itself, the shrewd investor will invest his money in well located real estate at prevailing prices, knowing that he will reap a larger profit consistent with safety, than in any other form of investment. The word " Beal estate " is so called because it is the only " real " estate.

Thanking you for the service yeu are rendefing your community, and is appreciation for your Classified Column - which has in the past sold $85,000.00 in real estate with a 40 cent insertion, we are

New York Breaks String of Scoreless Innings in Ninth.

NEW YORK, June 21.—(P)—Jerome Herman "Dizzy" Dean nailed another plank in his "more pay" platform today by shutting out the Giants up to the ninth inning, giving them only six hits and striking out eight as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated New York, 5 to 1.

The Cards rapped Clarence Mitchel hard and Gus Mancuso touched him for three straight hits including a homer in the fourth. The Giants broke their string of 2S scoreless innings when Mel Ott doubled and Frank Hogan singled.

Schmeling did not appear to be as fast as he was when he moved down Young Stribling at Cleveland last summer with a killing body attack and a machine-gun attack to the head.

Schmeling's supporters kept calling for him to come on but he kept holding back. The fifteenth saw him outfought and outboxed by a more tired older man. It was this caution and this unwillingness to cut loose and this unwillingness to cut loose and this unwillingness to cut loose the fight.

They fought a slow fight at times. Both started with extreme caution, I teach other out. It was even. In the next five Sharkey scored a close margin of victory on points, outipabling and outpointing Schmeling.

In the tenth, eleventh and twelfth rounds Sharkey seemed to be slipping. Schmeling came along fast, pumping in a few rights such as cut Stribling to ribbons and jabbing well with his left.

It was then that Schmeling's supporters started crying for a knockout. It seems that all their prophecies were coming true, that Sharkey would tire and begin to fade after the tenth. But somewhere in the rest after the twelfth round Sharkey found himself. And he came back to finish with a great fifteenth which turned the verdict to him.
